

the solution is clear

Clear Facts provides relevant information for helping you receive better results from your Clear Sky FOOD & BEVERAGE inventory software. Below is this month's topic.

NOTE: This "clear fact" first appeared July 23, 2010. We are repeating this information today because of its importance.

A Banquet Management System is Part of your F&B Inventory System

Did you know that a banquet/event management system is included as part of your overall food and beverage inventory system? It's really like a system within a system. Login to Clear Sky Software then click on Event Tools on the left side of your screen. Once you click on this button you will enter the Banquet Management System.

This part of your inventory system provides tools for managing and controlling all F&B products delivered to and from banquet events. The end result is an Event Sales Report that displays products consumed and food and beverage costs for a given banquet.

Additional features include the Event Master function allowing staff to create events, enter event names and start dates. Pricing templates can also be created to include unit price, serving units and serving price. Once this basic information is entered, users can create electronic requisitions of required products, issue F&B products to an event, return any items not consumed, and close an event to produce a final Event Sales Report. A customer version of this report concealing your internal costs is also available.

If you haven't done so, start by tracking a small event and experience the power of this area of your inventory system. Give it a try!

For additional support on the above topic contact the Clear Sky Software Help Desk at 704-554-6300 or support@clearskysoftware.com

For sales inquiries contact Jay Williams at 704-568-5544 or jay@clearskysoftware.com

Clear Facts pertains to Clear Sky FOOD & BEVERAGE. If you are using the BICS system you should convert to Clear Sky BEVERAGE and purchase Clear Sky FOOD. If you have a current Software Maintenance Program (SMP) you are entitled to Clear Sky BEVERAGE at no cost.

clear sky is a registered trademark of clear sky software, inc.
© copyright 2012, clear sky software, inc., all rights reserved
www.clearskysoftware.com • 704.568.5544